

Dukakis in area

By Judy Fahys

PRJ Washington Bureau

ATLANTA — The Democratic presidential and vice presidential nominees will kick off their campaign in Missouri by sitting alongside St. Louis Rep. Richard A. Gephardt in a near North Side Baptist church pew today.

The visit is expected to boost the profile of Gov. Michael Dukakis and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen in a state where many have their hopes pinned on a ticket including Gephardt, who dropped out of the race in March. Dukakis and Bentsen are expected to be joined by their wives, Kitty and B.A., at the St. Louis church service.

Before embarking on a nationwide campaign, the Democratic team will spend 16 hours in the St. Louis area.

The Dukakis campaign also was expected to announce that Mark Longabaugh, Gephardt's Washington political aide and former New Hampshire presidential campaign director, will head the Dukakis campaign in Missouri.

Though many area delegates to the convention agreed that the Democratic ticket would attract many switcher Democrats back home, some worried that the state party is not ready to incorporate the Dukakis campaign.

The differences were evident Thursday night when many of the state's 37 Jackson delegates continued to wear their Jackson buttons as they waved Dukakis posters.

Ladue resident Joan Horn said local Democrats needed to get to work on getting out the vote during the 12 weeks before the November election.

Eugene Martin, a St. Louis delegate for Jesse Jackson, worried that the Dukakis and Jackson camps in Missouri did not meet to plan their strategy during the national convention. He said the two campaigns were competing only a week ago and their goals have been different in many respects.

"We should have a plan in place," he said.

But others like North-St. Louis Rep. William Clay were not as had with him a student pilot, Patrick Whiteley. At left, Telegraph reporter Roger Kramer is among those inspecting the plane.

Sand bar handy 'runway' for two in troubled plane

By Bill Winter

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Two men who walked away from their stranded airplane seemed embarrassed by the hordes of investigators, media and spectators who rushed to Chouteau Island on Thursday afternoon.

But they were happy to have been able to return to civilization unhurt, after an emergency landing on a sand bar and an hour's walk through ankle-deep Mississippi River water and muddy cow fields.

The plane developed engine trouble while being flown by a student pilot. It was landed safely by the other occupant, a flight instructor.

John E. Farmer, 46, St. Louis, a Bi-State Flying Club instructor, told the Press-Record-Journal he and his student took off from St. Louis Downtown Park Airport, Cahokia, and landed about 8 a.m. Thursday on the sand bar, adjacent to the northeastern area of Mosenthein Island.

He said they were unaware that a sighting of the plane would trigger an investigation by the Federal Aviation Administration and Madison County sheriff's deputies, plus extensive interest by newspapers, radio and television staffs.

They spent Thursday morning working on the engine and were able to start it, but could not take off again due to the wheels of the four-seat Cessna Skyhawk becoming imbedded in the soft surface of the sand.

They decided to walk off the island about 12:30 p.m., aided by the low level of the usually fast-running river.

Shortly before 2 p.m., they were found walking through a Chouteau Island field by the Press-Record-Journal and Madison County Sheriff's Lt. Rick Weissenborn.

Neither Farmer nor Patrick

Whiteley, St. Louis, suffered injury but they had developed a powerful thirst.

Word of a possible plane crash began circulating shortly after noon following reports by fishermen, forwarded by the FAA tower staff at Lambert Airport, St. Louis. Deputies were alerted at 12:51 p.m. and hurried to the area.

St. Louis County police officers flew a helicopter to the island and found the plane mired in sand. It was looked and there were no signs of damage or injury.

Deputies had set up a command post on the Illinois bank near the low-water dam, immediately south of the former Chain of Rocks Bridge. Several officers left there to walk to the now nearly connected Mosenthein Island, which includes thickly forested areas.

Before the deputies returned to the shore, the two occupants of the plane had been found and driven to the command post, where they gratefully consumed ice water offered by a woman in a pickup truck. Her family was there for some river fishing.

Farmer and Whiteley sat down in the shade of a tree to cool off as they answered questions from Deputy Harold Wilson.

"I walk away from a plane three or four times a day," Farmer said in minimizing the problem his morning flight had encountered.

He jokingly said the experience had demonstrated to Whiteley "how not to fly an airplane."

He said he teaches student pilots in planes based at Parks and at the Spirit of St. Louis Airport. Farmer agreed that it was "a great day for flying," with blue sky and only a few small, puffy white clouds. His main concern, he said, was the mud that had accumulated on his shoes.

Alleged jewelry burglar nabbed

GRANITE CITY — What police called a "smash and stash" burglary of J.D. Hudson's Jewelry Store, 19th and State streets, landed a Pontoon Beach man in jail Thursday.

Larry G. Sidwell, 39, 4057 Oakmont Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested Thursday evening and charged Friday with burglary.

A witness who saw a man break the window and take some jewelry called the station. Police responding to the call reported recovering some of the jewelry from the sidewalk, where it apparently had been dropped.

Two witnesses gave police a description and, based on a tip, went to Goldie's Good Time Bar and Grill, 1800 State St.

Inside, police report, a man approached and asked if they were looking for a man with jewelry. He sent them across the street to the Tip Top Tavern. Police reported seeing a man sitting there who perfectly matched the description and Sidwell was arrested.

Officers alleged finding some of the missing jewelry on Sidwell and he was taken to the witnesses, who identified him as the man they alleged seeing. Sidwell's bond is $30,000.

The BIG Cuke

A tongue-in-cheek tale of strange growth in the naked city

By Andy Siering

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — There are not six million stories in this Naked City, which is why I was willing to listen when Buck Harolan walked into the newsroom totting a plastic shopping bag.

Harolan, 70, tanned to a mellow brown by the gardening wars in this, the summer of The wouldn't have been able to handle the rough going he faced.

I looked Harolan over carefully. Was I squinting from the smoke of the Chesterfield dangling from my lip, or was it from the weary cynicism I had acquired over years of having publicity-hungry citizens try to put one over on me? Was Harolan playing a game, I wondered?

He looked honest, as he stood there smiling at me. But then so did Baby Face Nelson. So did Willie "The Actor" Sutton. Underneath that so-called cucumber's gnarly skin, did there lurk a heart of purest papier mache?

I flicked my ashes toward the wastebasket. "OK, pal," I sneered. "What's the scoop?" "It's a burpless Armenian cucumber," he said. Evidently sensing my skepticism, he added defensively, "The seed came from the Burpee Seed Co. so if anybody says there's no such thing, you can call them."

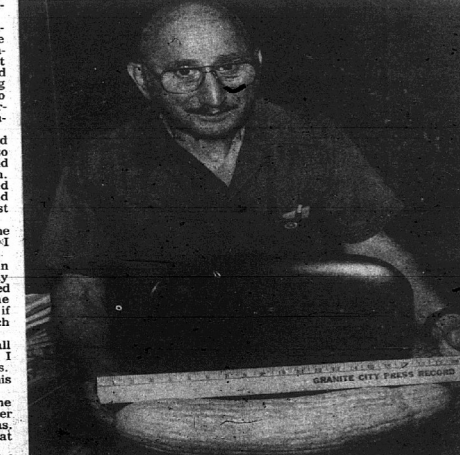

Fat chance I'm going to call them, Mister. I thought. But I decided to play along for laughs.

"You ever grow anything this big before, buddy?" "Never of this variety," he said. "I wish I could remember what variety that other one was. I sure would like to buy that seed again."

Harolan did say that he had been featured in "Our Own Oddities" for a purple carrot. Sure, I thought.

I was just about to pull a knife

Crash kills motorcyclist

GRANITE CITY — A 34-year-old man is dead as the result of injuries suffered in a motorcycle collision at Illinois 182 and Maryville Road at 6:30 a.m. Friday.

Robert E. Simpson, 2817 Herbert St., was taken from the scene to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by a Fire Department ambulance. He was in the operating room throughout the morning and died at 12:20 p.m.

Police report Simpson was westbound on his 1979 Honda motorcycle on Illinois 182 when a pickup truck driven east by Joseph B. Jones attempted to make a left turn onto Maryville Road and was struck broadside by the motorcycle.

Jones was given a traffic citation for failure to yield the right-of-way when turning left.

District 9 evaluates evaluation process

By Paul Guggina

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The District 9 Board of Education is setting goals for its goal-setting process and evaluating its evaluation process.

Or, as board member Jolene Terrell put it, "We're just trying to get things organized."

The board has no formal procedures for evaluating the superintendent or setting goals for the district.

"The two most important things a board does is choose a superintendent and set policy. And after a superintendent has been chosen, we have to make sure he's doing the job," Terrell said.

In the past, she said, "We've just pointed out the strengths and weaknesses."

Now the board, she is examining ways to improve the process, possibly by creating standard performance categories with a rating system made for each category. For example, the board might rate the superintendent on his performance regarding public relations based on a scale of one through five.

"It might cover board/superintendent relations, administrative relations and things like that," Terrell said.

The board is also trying to establish a system of setting goals.

"The board has not set its own goals as a board," Terrell said. "We've just kind of agreed to whatever goals the superintendent set."

That will soon change. Board members and school administrators are being asked to come up with both short- and long-range goals for the district, board, superintendent and administrators.

If we do a better job of planning and organizing, we can react more quickly when there are problems," Board President Monroe Worthen said.

Probation, court staffs to convene this week

The Madison County Probation and Court Services Department will host the 1988 summer conference of the Illinois Probation and Court Services Association July 27 through 29.

The IPCSA is a statewide organization of court services professionals involved in training and education, legislative initiatives, and the establishment of standards.

Darrell O. Smith, chief adult probation officer of the Third Judicial Circuit in Madison County, is the current IPCSA president.

The conference will be held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn and will consist of standing committee meetings, workshops, and exhibits.

The conference theme is long-range planning to meet future statewide challenges to probation and court services. Two hundred and fifty members from across the state are expected to attend.

In addition to Smith, the executive officers of the Madison County Probation and Court Services Department are Robert Astorian of Granite City, director, Gary Schumacher, chief juvenile probation officer, and Darrell McGibany, superintendent of the Juvenile Detention Home.

Paul J. O'Neill is chief judge of the Third Circuit.

Better Breathers hold annual picnic

The annual summer picnic and potluck dinner for the Better Breathers Club of St. Elizabeth Medical Center was held at Wilson Park.

The purpose of the club is twofold — educational and supportive. It is sponsored by the hospital and the pulmonary department of the hospital.

Its objectives are to provide people who have respiratory problems with opportunities to aid themselves in understanding and dealing with their disabilities; to enable them to share experiences with their families, friends and professionals; and to offer support, guidance and learning to live with chronic obstructive pulmonary diseases — to patients, families and friends.

Membership is open to all persons with chronic lung disease and their family members and friends. Meetings are held on the second Tuesday of the month at 1:30 p.m. in the hall at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. There is no established fee — donations are optional. Refreshments are served.

Members and guests present were: Jim and Velma Collins, Ray and Marge Huker, Bill and Opal Landman, Orval Femmer, Bill Johnson, Mary Edward, Pat Burns, Ellen Knackstadt, Beverly Rusick, Kim Johnson and children, Jim Noe, Annie Hogan, Ed and Elsa Little, Frank and Shirley Wendel, Dan and Rhonda McDowell and daughters, Evert Duvall, Alma Brown, Pearl Kamulski, Ruth Smith, Jean Butch, Louise Justice, Ed and Clara Schilling, Judy Johnson, Ron Homer and Charley Neal.

Fence, sewer issues solved; McKinley Bridge traffic up

By Marva Collins

VENICE — Mayor Tyrone Echols reported during the July 19 City Council meeting that the matter of barbed wire fencing around boxcar apartments being developed in Venice has been resolved.

The portion of fence within city limits that had concerned aldermen at the July 5 meeting was clipped and removed, Echols said.

Council members had been concerned that the barbed wire fencing around the apartments, which are owned by Gerald Moss, might be hazardous. Alderman Victor Valentine said the fence gave the appearance of a "concentration camp."

In another matter involving Moss, Alderman Silver Franklin said sewer line excavations in an alley between Jefferson and Fillmore avenues had been filled. Moss owns boxcar apartments in the area and tapped into the sewer line in the alley, he said. Franklin said he wanted to be sure sewer pipe breaks were repaired before the area was covered. Echols said the breaks were fixed, and if there is any problem, Moss can be contacted.

Council members announced that the city appropriations ordinance hearing will be conducted July 30 at 1:30 p.m. at City Hall.

The city, in conjunction with the Silver Bells Senior Citizens, will sponsor a trip to the Illinois State Fair in August, but the cost and date were not announced. For further information, persons may call Lawrence Riley at 877-5060. The fair will be held Aug. 11-21 in Springfield.

The McKinley Bridge report for June showed the city collected $490,696 in tolls, according to Bridge Manager Tom Fields. The report placed average daily revenue at $16,356 during June, and noted that bridge traffic is up an average of 663 vehicles per day over June 1987.

Costello campaign raised nearly $200,000 in 83 days, records show

P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — In a strong display of his fund-raising prowess, Democratic Congressional candidate Jerry Costello raised $188,000 during an 83-day period beginning April 1, public documents show.

"We're very pleased with the response of the people in the district," said Costello campaign manager Dave Wagner, adding that a group of 500 volunteers spearheaded the recent fund drive.

Costello reported having just $27,000 on hand as of March 31 in a race where spending by him could reach $1 million. He soon was the recipient of a donation surge led by local supporters and political action committees, according to his disclosure forms.

In all, Costello received a reported $151,510 from individuals, $34,925 from PACs and $1,625 from local and state Democratic committees during the nearly three-month period. Moreover, Costello reported having $164,636 left over after spending $50,000 on campaign activities.

Costello's fund gathering has dwarfed that of Robert Gaffner, the Republican running in the 21st District. Since January, Gaffner has raised $65,000, including about $35,600 from individuals and $20,800 from PACs and party election committees.

Both Costello and Gaffner filed their latest campaign disclosures June 30 with the Federal Election Commission. Under federal law, individuals may give a candidate up to $1,000 per election and PACs may give up to $5,000 per election, said FEC spokeswoman Karen Finucan.

With four elections this year, each has an unusually high limit on campaign contributions.

In addition to the March primary election for a two-year term, the election schedule included a special primary July 12 for five-month term nominations, a special election Aug. 9 to choose a five-month congressman, and the Nov. 8 general election to select a congressman for the two-year term starting in January 1989.

Gaffner, a Greenville resident, a St. Louis community college executive and his party's congressional candidate from the 21st District in 1982-84-86, in Since April 1, Costello, chairman of the St. Clair County Board, took in an average of $2,226 a day.

April reported having $3,600 in his campaign coffers after running unopposed in the March 15 primary.

Since April 1, Costello, chairman of the St. Clair County Board, took in an average of $2,226 a day. A key segment of that funding came from local lawyers, who gave a total of $24,250, and from 26 St. Clair County employees and teachers, who gave $9,375, according to the FEC filing. His wife is a teacher.

Costello filed his disclosure, as required by the FEC, more than 12 days before the special election in which he defeated Clarence Ellis, East St. Louis Alderman Council chairman pro tem. Gaffner was unopposed July 12.

Ellis, from the start viewed as a "long shot" against Costello, hasn't filed any financial disclosures with the FEC or the clerk of the U.S. House. Finucan said filing would become unnecessary for Ellis if he failed to raise or spend more than $5,000 in the primary campaign.

The special primary and special election dates were set soon after the April 22 death of Rep. Mel Price, the St. Clair County Democrat who served the Metro East region for 43 years and planned to retire at the end of his current term.

Gaffner advanced without opposition to the August special election against Costello. Gaffner's only Republican primary challenger, Charles Mister of East St. Louis, dropped out in May.

As winners of the respective party primaries in March, Costello and Gaffner were already going to vie in November to succeed Price. The winner of the special election Aug. 9 will serve the remaining months of Price's term and will run in November as an incumbent congressman.

If the same man wins the short and long terms, he will gain a seniority edge over those winning initial two-year House terms this fall.

Overall in 1988, Costello has collected $266,795 from individual donors and PACs, and has spent $374,696. The candidate has no reported debts because he entered 1988 with $272,300 in the bank, according to his filings.

Burris staff to meet officials

HIGHLAND — State Comptroller Roland W. Burris said representatives of his office will be at the Madison County Fair July 27-29 to meet with local officials.

In accordance with state law, more than 6,000 units of local government throughout Illinois file annual financial reports with the comptroller's office. Burris said employees will be available to answer questions regarding either the filing or the preparation of the financial reports.

In addition to having financial information available for local officials, Burris said literature on state government finance will also be on hand at the comptroller's booth.

As the state's chief fiscal control officer, Burris publishes a pamphlet entitled "It's Your Money," which explains state taxes and expenditures in an easy-to-understand manner.

Other available booklets with detailed information include "Illinois Appropriations," "Illinois Annual Reports" and "Investment Guide for Local Governments."

Awards highlight Red Cross dinner

Awards were presented at the annual dinner meeting of the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross at Mazzini's Restaurant in Madison.

Outgoing officers are: Al Hudzik, chairman; Bill Badger, vice chairman; Doug Ackerman, secretary; and Dolores Vogeler, treasurer.

Elected to office for 1988-89 were: Badger, chairman; Ackerman, vice chairman; Olajones, secretary; and Elmer Dehn, treasurer.

New board members elected to one-year terms were Janet Mills, Lena Seitzer and Louise Wade.

Two-year terms went to Sarah Metcalf, Susan Holik, Carol Davis, Hazel M. Smith and Gary Mendenhall. Elected for three-year terms were Earl Buenger, Christ Pashoff and Ruth Schroeder.

David Denton, vice president, American Red Cross Midwestern Operations Headquarters, St. Louis, was guest speaker.

He presented certificates of appreciation to the following board members: Elizabeth Briggs, Edward Juncu (chairman of the nominating committee), John Novotny and Velda Taylor.

Denton presented the Clara Barton Award for Meritorious Volunteer Service to Dolores Vogeler, who served as blood chairman from 1982 to 1987 and has completed six years of service on the board of directors.

Denton then presented the special chapter chairman award to Hudzik. This award is signed by the national chairman of the American Red Cross, George F. Moody, who is chairman and chief executive of Security Pacific National Bank in Los Angeles. The Tri-City Chapter welcomed Ron Streiler to the community as new chapter manager. He came here from Cape Girardeau, Mo., where he was an active volunteer with the Cape County Chapter, American Red Cross, with extensive experience in the areas of first-aid, cardio pulmonary resuscitation and blood services.

Streiler started his new position with the Tri-City Chapter on June 13. He said he hopes to increase the Red Cross's volunteer program and expand training opportunities in first-aid, CPR, health services and water safety.

TAKING THE GAVEL: Bill Badger, left, accepts the gavel from outgoing Red Cross Chairman Al Hudzik. Badger will chair the local chapter for the 1988-89 year.

Aldermen turn down charity's fund-raiser roadblock request

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The American Cancer Society will not be holding a fund-raiser roadblock at Johnson and Nameoki roads.

After what 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morlen said was five years of saying it was going to be, the City Council voted July 19 to turn down the request for a roadblock because of the potentially dangerous congestion it creates.

"This is the worst scenario in the world for collecting money," 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak said. "We're asking for trouble every time we put people out there with buckets."

"Someone is going to get killed out there," Mayor Von De Cruse said. "It's all in a good cause, but it creates a situation that should not be."

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney said the aldermen had agreed before to disallow any further roadblocks due to the congestion they cause. He said the aldermen had agreed to not accept any more requests at that time.

Several aldermen said that state regulations have restricted, or outright banned, the roadblocks. A city ordinance approved last year was based on the state requirements.

"There has been a great deal of discussion about this in times past," 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fink said. "All the organizations met here at City Hall and worked this out — it was worse before. The only alternative I see is to stop it completely."

"I don't agree with the concept, but it was the subject of multiple hearings," 2nd Ward Alderman Jim Miller said. "I'm not in favor of making a hasty decision. We need to keep in touch with the ordinance."

A motion was made by 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen to deny the request and immediately send a letter explaining the reasons.

Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke made a motion to amend the motion to approve the roadblock, but not for that location. The amendment did not receive a second.

Worthen's motion passed 11-3 with Morlen, Hanke and Miller voting no.

The roadblock had been planned for Aug. 5.

Auto license deadline nearing

Passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in July should buy their renewal stickers at one of six Secretary of State vehicle facilities in Springfield and Chicago or at one of 1,750 Illinois financial institutions, Secretary of State Jim Edgar said.

It is now too late to send applications by mail and guarantee delivery of stickers before the July 31 expiration date.

The new, green July 1989 stickers are attached to the back of the ID card. The sticker should be placed over the current sticker at the bottom of the rear plate, Edgar said.

Approximately 575,000 pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to passenger car owners who renew their stickers in July.

Bridick will lead benefit bike event

Police Chief Charles Bridick of Madison has been chosen as chairperson of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's Madison bikeathon. The announcement came from Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Bridick and the Police Benevolent & Protective Association will be conducting a bike-a-thon this fall to raise funds to support research, care and teaching centers. Currently, there are three centers in the area: Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, St. Louis Children's Hospital and University of Missouri at Columbia.

Cystic fibrosis is America's number one genetic killer of children taking more lives than muscular dystrophy and juvenile diabetes combined. Approximately 12 million Americans live in 20 or are at least symptomatic carriers of the gene that causes CF.

Absentee voting urged at county clerk's office

In-person absentee voting will be available in the Madison County clerk's office until 5 p.m. Aug. 8. The office will be open on Saturday, Aug. 6, from 9 a.m. to noon for absentee voting.

Robert Gaffner and Jerry Costello are seeking a five-month Congressional term in the Aug. 9 election.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles has encouraged Madison County voters to "exercise their rights and obligations" if they qualify.

"The state law provides for absentee voting prior to the election; however, certain set requirements must be met before a person can properly vote by absentee ballot," she said.

To qualify for an absentee ballot, a person must be a properly registered voter who is unable to vote in-person at his or her polling place on election day for one of the following reasons:

- Expect to be absent from the county on election day.
- Appointed to serve as an election judge in a precinct outside of the home precinct.
- Physically incapacitated.
- Observing a religious holiday.
- Acting in an official capacity as an election official.

In addition, nursing home residents and permanently physically incapacitated persons may qualify to vote absentee, Bowles said.

Any questions regarding absentee voting or voting in general may be directed to the County Clerk's Office, 692-4290.

Second wave of AIDS cases reaching Illinois, public health director says

CHICAGO — The number of reported AIDS cases among intravenous drug users has soared in 1988, overtaking the so-called "second wave" of the epidemic has reached Illinois, Bernard J. Turner, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said.

Comparing AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) cases during 1988 with those recorded in prior years, the department found an 82 percent increase in AIDS cases with risk behavior identified as intravenous drug use (IVDU).

The state also documented a 49 percent increase in cases among those reporting both IV drug use and homosexual/bisexual male behavior. The increase in cases among homosexual or bisexual males, by contrast, was 23 percent.

During the same reporting period, Jan. 1 through May 31, there were no new cases of heterosexually transmitted AIDS.

Of the 394 AIDS cases reported to the department this year, 18.5 percent have been IV drug users and 27 percent involve either IV drug users alone or persons who are both IV drug users and gay or bisexual males. Prior to 1988, the corresponding overall percentages were 6 percent for IVDUs and 11 percent for IVDUs/gays.

As the end of May, 1,851 cases of AIDS had been reported to the department since it began collecting statistics.

Homosexual or bisexual males continue to make up the majority of AIDS victims with 76 percent of the total number of cases. IV drug users now represent 9 percent and persons with both risk behaviors constitute 5 percent.

"Illinois has trailed the experiences of other major states, such as New York, in AIDS cases among intravenous drug users. Now, however, we are beginning to see dramatic increases in this group, even as homosexual or bisexual male cases begin to slow," Dr. Turnock said.

He noted that Hispanics have shown a significant increase in reported AIDS cases, up 40 percent this year. Blacks showed a 28 percent increase, and among whites there was a 25 percent increase.

Statewide, there has been a 27 percent increase in the number of AIDS cases reported through May 31. The number of reported cases increased by 30 percent in Chicago, 27 percent in metropolitan Chicago and 23 percent statewide.

Illinois AIDS cases reported during 1988 follow:

Homosexual/bisexual males, 262 cases, up 23 percent.

Intravenous drug users, 73, up 82 percent.

IVDUs and homosexual/bisexual males, 33, up 49 percent.

Hemophiliacs, 12, up 63 percent.

Heterosexual, 1 (earlier case reclassified to another risk group).

Unknown, 1 (reclassified).

Blood transfusion recipients, 10, up 16 percent.

Males numbered 373, an increase of 27 percent. Females totaled 21, up 33 percent.

There were 223 whites, up 25 percent; 119 blacks, up 28 percent; 50 Hispanics, up 40 percent; and 2 of other races, up 22 percent.

Statewide, there were 394 cases, up 27 percent; Chicago, 312, up 30 percent; metro Chicago, 359, up 27 percent; downstate, 34 cases, up 23 percent; and unknown county, 1.

Clothing drive set for Aug. 13

The Protestant Welfare Association Inc. is sponsoring a clothing drive Aug. 13 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The drive is designed to provide clothing to the less fortunate.

Children's clothes can be taken to First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue. The clothing will be displayed on the parking lot and the shoes will be in the church basement. Items may be taken to First Baptist after Aug. 7. A sign says, "Please call 676-6373 before you go to be sure someone is there."

Adult clothing will be at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2103 Cleveland Blvd. If you can mark a size on the clothing, it would help in the distribution. John Graham is the contact; his phone is 431-1596.

The spokesman said, "The street will be blocked off on the day of the program."

"The association will need people and coordinators and helpers before 10 a.m. and after 2 p.m. Volunteers may call Protestant Welfare at 876-8770."

Thompson balances '89 budget by trimming $147 million

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James R. Thompson on July 14 brought the Fiscal Year '89 budget into balance, vetoing $147 million from the $23 billion appropriated by the General Assembly.

This budget provides only limited new funds for education and will make it difficult for some state agencies to maintain the level of services provided in the past fiscal year, Thompson said. "But with this veto action, the 'bottom line' now is balanced."

Because the General Assembly did not approve a modest tax increase, this budget is insufficient, Thompson said.

"It does not address pressing needs in education, economic development, human services and many other areas of government, and it continues to delay payment of bills and corporate tax refunds owed by the state."

"The Assembly came close to passing a balanced budget and, with a few exceptions, followed the spending plan that I proposed in February. But to keep spending within projected revenues, I have eliminated $12.1 million in individual projects added by the Assembly that were to be paid for with General Revenue Funds that are not available."

"Unfortunately, some of the appropriations I vetoed were intended to be spent for legitimate needs, like the Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan (CHIP)," Thompson said.

"But lacking the resources to maintain the services we have provided in the past, we cannot begin new programs that will demand higher appropriations in future years."

"If CHIP were to begin in FY '89, the startup cost would be about $10 million and increasing demand for CHIP could drive up its cost to an estimated $40 million or more in just a few years."

Thompson said the budget will make operations difficult in some agencies where funding was reduced or where no new funding was added for expanded mandates.

The Department of Public Health's appropriation suffered operations cuts of $4.2 million, an 8 percent reduction by the General Assembly, bringing the agency's operating budget below FY '88 appropriated levels. The reduction will result in the complete curtailment of school asbestos inspections and a drop in staffing throughout the department.

Health program efforts in AIDS, Families With A Future, long-term care regulations, and environmental health will be severely hampered by decreasing staffing levels and the inability to support local health departments and other community health care providers, the governor said.

No additional funds are available to implement AIDS contact/partner notification programs adequately or increase AIDS education efforts aimed specifically at intravenous drug users, he said.

No expansion will occur in the number or size of targeted areas aimed at reducing infant mortality and teen-age pregnancies throughout the state, Thompson added.

At the Department of Corrections, where the General Assembly reduced the FY '89 budget $12 million below the level introduced by the governor, funds will neither maintain the past year's staffing level nor cover essential needs such as food, clothing and medical services, Thompson said. In addition, funding to open a new Mount Sterling prison, which will be complete in April 1989, was not provided.

The General Assembly reduced the appropriation for State Troopers overtime by two-thirds, which will result in a reduction of police service during the midnight shift.

The Department of State

Police anticipates the number of counties without routine patrols from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. will rise from 65 to 72. In these counties, only emergency services will be provided during these hours.

The Department of Public Aid budget will reduce the payment cycle for medical providers from the 67 days experienced at the end of FY '88 to 30 days in FY '89, still far slower than the 30-day standard, the governor commented.

Thompson approved a $2.82 billion appropriation for elementary and secondary education, $127.4 million more than the FY '88 appropriation, and a $1.33 billion appropriation for higher education, an increase of $65.4 million.

"However, in real dollars the FY '89 appropriation will buy less than the same amount bought in FY '87 because inflation over those two years is running at a projected 8.6 percent."

"With the exception of the appropriations for new state building projects, the Court of Claims awards bill, and the Department of Nuclear Safety's appropriation bill, I have now completed all action on appropriations."

Rather than look for a new house, we've decided to add on another bedroom since we're enjoying a relatively low interest rate mortgage. What can we expect as a return on this investment considering we'll need a home improvement loan?

A. Although you may not be able to expect a dollar-for-dollar return on your investment when you sell, add-on improvements, like a bedroom will generally return most of your money. In the meantime, you'll enjoy the additional space and comfort before you sell. It is a good idea, however, to avoid over-improving your home in terms of the rest of the neighborhood. A general guide is restrict improvements which would increase the value of your home more than 30 percent. Try to keep monthly payments, mortgage and home improvement loan, to no more than one-third of take-home pay. And, remember to save all receipts from home improvement projects for tax purposes if you ever want to sell.

Dukakis' choice for running mate may not help ticket in Illinois

P-RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — By naming Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas as his running mate, Democratic presidential candidate Gov. Michael Dukakis hasn't improved his chances of winning Illinois, according to some Illinois House Republicans.

"(Bentsen) is not going to be very impressive to much of any body in our party," said Rep. Harris W. Fawell, R-13th, said, "I'm not impressed with the choice."

Dukakis, deciding less than a week before the Atlanta convention, selected Bentsen on July 12 and promptly compared the new ticket to the party's winning 1960 ticket when John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts picked Lyndon Johnson of Texas as his running mate — reviving the so-called Boston-Austin axis.

"(Dukakis) likes to think of that as being like Kennedy and LBJ," said Fawell, a two-term lawmaker from Naperville, near Chicago. "Well, those are two personalities that aren't going to be reprinted for a while. I don't think he's a Kennedy and I don't think Bentsen's an LBJ, either. I think it was just a tired old move."

Illinois looms large in the presidential contest because of the state's 24 electoral votes. Only four states, California, New York, Texas and Pennsylvania, have more. To win the presidency, a candidate needs 270 electoral votes.

Other Illinois Republicans said that Dukakis harmed his chances because he passed over the Rev. Jesse Jackson for a conservative Democrat who has supported the new MX intercontinental missile and military aid to the Nicaraguan Contras, both of which Dukakis says he opposes.

"Bentsen and Dukakis disagree on a lot of fundamentals," Rep. Phil Crane, R-12th, said. "Bentsen, particularly, is a lot closer to George Bush and those positions are popular positions in Illinois. Frankly, I don't think Bentsen has Dukakis' liberal allies and alienating Jackson's supporters."

Rep. Jack Davis, R-4th, said the Bentsen selection was baffling, at least to those asking the people of Illinois to vote for.

"I really don't understand what they're going to ask the people of Illinois to vote for," Davis said. "Are they going to ask them to vote for contra aid or against contra aid? Are they going to ask them to vote for the MX missile (strategic defense initiative) or against it? Are they going to ask them to support the MX missile, the Peacekeeper missile, or not? They are diametrically opposed on some of the issues. I think it's one of the silliest things I have ever seen."

"Regardless of his background, a white Southerner to balance the ticket from Texas wouldn't seem to be the thing the black community really had in mind when they supported Jesse so strongly and when they registered 2 million voters."

Fawell, Crane and Davis have their own candidate in mind to run with Bush in November, but they all believe that Bush can upstage the Dukakis-Bentsen pair by picking someone who is better known in Illinois.

"I think it gives an opportunity to Bush to do something exciting, new," said Fawell, who would like to see fellow Illinois House Republican Lynn Martin, an incumbent, chosen. "I don't think he can do worse."

While Crane would like to see Bush pick Colorado Sen. William Armstrong to shore up the vice president's ticket with conservatives, Davis thinks Bush already has made his choice, saying the "deal is done."

"George Bush will pick Bob Dole as his vice president," Davis said. "That will satisfy the Midwest. That will satisfy the farmers and that will satisfy Illinois."

Gaffner says Kemp best v.p. choice for Bush

P-RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Republican Congressman Jack Kemp, the New York conservative who faltered on the presidential trail, would make the best vice presidential nominee for his party's presidential candidate, Vice President George Bush, House candidate Robert Gaffner said.

"It seems to me that Kemp would be a good running mate for Bush," Gaffner said during a break in a Washington visit to raise funds and to map strategy.

"(Kemp) has the regional balance, number one," Gaffner said. "I think that people realize that he is such that you do have to look at that. He would bring the northeastern part of the area together."

Gaffner said he also likes Kemp because they are close ideologically and because they hail from districts with many similarities. "I have a great affinity for Jack Kemp because of the Buffalo, N.Y. area he represents and consistently gets re-elected in it. It's virtually a bag copy of what the 21st District is," Gaffner said.

"(Kemp) is a fiscal conservative, which I am. I may not be as socially conservative as Jack is, especially in some of the social service areas," he said.

Kemp, a former professional football quarterback who entered Congress in 1970 and rose to become a leading light among House Republicans, withdrew from the presidential race March 10, two days after Bush dominated the Super Tuesday primaries, leaving all but sewed up the nomination.

Kemp press aide Marcel Robinson said the congressman is not son said the congressman is not in the suburban Buffalo 31st District and has made no plans about his political future.

"He is not campaigning for vice president. It's not something you can do," Robinson said. "The kind of endorsement on this candidate's part, but endorsements aren't necessary. It's up to one man and one man only and that's George Bush."

Bush is not expected to select his vice presidential choice until the Aug. 15-18 convention in New Orleans. In addition to Kemp, the short list of potential running mates includes Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and Gov. James R. Thompson, R-Ill.

Gaffner said that although Bush and Dole battled hard during the primaries, Dole remains popular with Midwest Republicans and would make the strongest running mate with Bush.

"A Dole-Bush team wouldn't be that big a coup support that," Gaffner said. Gaffner added that his own chances would not be greatly improved with Thompson on the ticket.

Gaffner, the Greenville resident, who lost by fewer than 1,000 votes to incumbent Democratic Rep. Mel Price in 1986, is locked in a close battle with Democrat Jerry Costello, according to a private Republican poll. Costello, chairman of the St. Clair County Board, will face Gaffner in the Aug. 9 special election and again Nov. 8.

The special election became necessary when Price, who entered the House in January 1984 when Franklin D. Roosevelt was president, died of cancer April 22. The winner serves the term Costello and Gaffner, winners of their respective primaries March 15, then will meet in the general election for a full term.

Gaffner, hoping to win the special election and look to November as a House incumbent, said he's been successful in lining up prominent Illinois Republicans to stump for him in the district.

State news

State seeks comments on recreation plan

The Department of Conservation is seeking comments from the public through Aug. 31 on the draft of its 1988 Illinois Outdoor Recreation Plan.

Major concerns about recreation in the state, such as the continuing loss of land and water resources and a growing need for conservation education, are in the five-year plan.

It also examines recreation participation trends and the facilities needed to support the range of activities enjoyed in the state.

Copies of the plan draft may be obtained by calling Maria Gursch at (217) 782-3715 or by writing to her in care of the Department of Conservation, Division of Planning, Room 310, Springfield, Ill. 62761-1787.

Renewable Resources gives recycling grants

The Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources' Office of Solid Waste and Renewable Resources has awarded 14 recycling grants, totaling $263,000, as part of the state's comprehensive solid waste management program.

The state received 63 grant requests submitted by groups interested in projects such as curbside recycling, yard waste composting projects, commercial

Conservation World to show lumberjacks

Pole-climbing, log rolling and speed sawing will be just a few of the lumberjacking skills Conservation World visitors will see at the Illinois State Fair, Aug. 11-21.

A highlight of the show will feature lumberjacks speed climbing and descending 60-foot poles. Other competitors will use a 6-foot buckskin to slice through a 12-inch pine log faster than most power saws.

Conservation World, a 22-acre park-like exhibit in the northwest corner of the fairgrounds, will feature continuous entertainment, craft demonstrations, exhibits of live native animals and fish, and information displays about resource conservation.

Highland stays alive with 8-1 win over flat Triplets

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The champagne, if you will, was ready to flow on Friday, but Highland Post 439 cast a chill over the whole proceedings.

The Triplets failed to nail down the District 22 North Division playoff championship when they suffered an 8-1 loss. Scott Heinz, Jason Augustine and Rod Naylor were the primary party poopers.

Heinz wasn't quite as sharp as he had been in a 1-0 loss to Granite City in the playoff opener on Monday. He allowed four hits and walked five.

But he got nine strikeouts and one magnificent defensive play from Naylor in left field. Augustine led the offensive charge, while Triplets starter John Moad had trouble throwing strikes and the Post 113 defense went awry.

"This just kills me," said manager Ralph Burnett. "I can't accept the effort we had tonight. If the other team is better and they just beat us, I can accept that. But I don't know where we were tonight."

It was the Triplets' first loss in the double-elimination tournament. They got another chance to wrap it up Saturday when Granite City's Henderson took the mound. The Highland pitching staff has been overworked this week, but manager Wayne Wirz said he would find somebody.

"We've got Tim Barnett and Kurt Ervin who could go," he said. "We've been hitting back all week. We're going to get beat sometime, but it won't be because of a lack of effort from these guys."

Hopes that Friday's game would be the clincher disappeared quickly. A walk and two errors in the first inning led to an unearned run on Curt Thacker's sacrifice fly. Then two more runs that could have been avoided made it 3-0 in the second. With two outs, Dan Warming's liner went off Moad's glove and just rolled away far enough for an infield hit.

Then the Triplets didn't execute on a double steal. Warming stole second, but Mike Blakey was caught between third and home. Henderson threw to third base too quickly and Blakey raced home. Dan Semanish singled home another run.

Augustine, who had three RBIs, blasted a two-run homer in the fourth to finish off Moad, who is 0-4 this summer. He allowed four hits in his four innings, but walked six.

"We weren't a team tonight," said Burnett, who watched his team commit five errors. "We were just a bunch of individuals participating, not competing."

The Triplets had one big chance to get back in the game. With two on and two outs in the fifth, Todd Hinterser went the Note: The District 22 championship will be a best-of-three series Sunday and Monday between the North and South playoff champions. The team with the best regular-season league record will host the second game and third game (if necessary) on Monday. Winner advances to the Fifth Division Tournament in DuQuoin on July 28-31.

"That was a key to the game," said Wirz. "You don't home run. The funny thing was the center fielder was telling him

he had plenty of room."

"That ball makes it 6-3 and we could get something going," said

Burnett. "But instead it's still 6-0 and we didn't have any momentum."

Joe Wallace homered to spoil Heinz's shutout in the seventh, but that was one of the few highlights.

"I didn't want Darin pitching tonight because I didn't want our best against their best," Burnett said. "I feel we'll have the better pitcher tomorrow (Saturday). If I had one game to win the division, I would want Darin Hendrickson on the mound. We've bounced back from bad defeats before and my feeling is we're going to win."

NOTES: Waterloo eliminated Belleville in the South Division with a 3-0 win on Friday. Clay Moebers hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning. Waterloo was to play Smithton on Saturday and had to beat Smithton twice. If Smithton wins and the Triplets win Saturday's game, the best-of-three league finals would start with one game at Granite City today and conclude with one or two games at Smithton (actual-ly, Mascoutah or Freeburg) on Monday. If Waterloo and Granite City meet, the Triplets would play one game at Waterloo on Sunday and play the second game and third game (if necessary) at home Monday. Starting times for those games were undetermined at press time.

Kinder finished with 8,293 points — a personal best for him. He edged Tim Bright for the championship. Entering the final event — the 1500 meter run — Kinder needed to stay within 11 seconds of Bright to hang on. The 1500 is probably Kinder's weakest event and he finished last at 4:55.39, but he was only 10.27 seconds behind Bright (4:45.12).

Kinder's other scores included: 100 meters — 10.82 seconds; long jump — 20-7 1/2; shot put — 23-1 1/2; high jump — 6-7 1/2; 400 meters — 49.74 seconds; 110 high hurdles — 14.56 seconds; discus — 156-7; pole vault — 16-4 1/2; javelin — 217-7. Kinder joins Granite City soccer player Steve Tritschler and East St. Louis heptathlete Jackie Joyner-Kersey on the U.S. Olympic team.

GC native wins decathlon title

A Granite City native is the United States decathlon champion.

Gary Kinder, 26, won the decathlon finals by six points at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials on Thursday and will compete in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea.

Kinder was born in Granite City and lives here until he was 4. His family moved to St. Louis and he attended Parkway North High School. He is now the assistant track coach at the University of New Mexico.

Kinder finished with 8,293 points — a personal best for him. He edged Tim Bright for the championship. Entering the final event — the 1500 meter run — Kinder needed to stay within 11 seconds of Bright to hang on. The 1500 is probably Kinder's weakest event and he finished last at 4:55.39, but he was only 10.27 seconds behind Bright (4:45.12).

Kinder's other scores included: 100 meters — 10.82 seconds; long jump — 20-7 1/2; shot put — 23-1 1/2; high jump — 6-7 1/2; 400 meters — 49.74 seconds; 110 high hurdles — 14.56 seconds; discus — 156-7; pole vault — 16-4 1/2; javelin — 217-7. Kinder joins Granite City soccer player Steve Tritschler and East St. Louis heptathlete Jackie Joyner-Kersey on the U.S. Olympic team.

Optimists still trying for 2nd

A 9-2 win at Alton on Friday kept the Optimists very much in the hunt for second place in Division 2 of the District 22 Junior Legion League.

Granite City was 11-10 in league play (13-11 overall) heading into its final two games Saturday at home against Belleville II and today (4 p.m.) at Gordon Moore Park against the Alton Optimists.

The Optimists will open the playoffs at home on Monday as they can do no worse than third place. They needed to win both of their remaining games to edge Fairview Heights (12-11) for second place.

Granite City scored two in the fifth and five in the sixth against Alton (9-21). Rich Scharidan led the hitting parade with a single, a double and three RBIs. Brian Harshany, Mike Mueller and Troy Adamits also had two hits apiece. The Optimists had 10 hits.

Kevin Wozniak (2-0) picked up the complete-game win, allowing two earned runs and four hits. He fanned three and walked only one while pitching around five errors.

The Optimists completed a season sweep of one of the league's best teams on Thursday when they came from behind again for a 5-4 win over Belleville I.

Belleville I leads Division 2 with a 19-3 league record, but two of those losses have come to Granite City. Mueller won the final hero as he singled home Troy Adamits with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh.

Darren Huffman got his second win of the summer — both against Belleville I against only one loss as he pitched all seven innings. Only one of Belleville's runs was earned as the Optimists committed four errors. Huffman struck out six and walked one while allowing five hits.

Belleville scored single runs in the first and third, but the Optimists tied the game with runs in the fourth and fifth. Belleville took a 3-2 lead in the sixth before Granite City bounced back.

Mueller started the sixth with a walk and scored on Tom Scharidan's screaming triple to center.

"That was one of the hardest hit balls I've ever seen," said manager Paul Kacera.

Senczyn scored on Chris Wierhardt's second hit to give the Optimists a 4-3 lead. Belleville tied the game in the seventh. But Adamits walked to start the bottom of the seventh and was bunted to second by Harshany. Keith Matlock was intentionally walked and Scharidan fired out for the second out. But Mueller singled to left to chase Adamits home with the winner.

The Optimists will open the playoffs at home Monday against either East St. Louis or Belleville II. Starting time was undetermined at press time. There is also the possibility the senior Legion team could be playing here in the District 22 finals on Monday. A victory on Monday means another game Wednesday for a berth in the league team league finals in Brighton next weekend.

JR. OLYMPIC HOPEFUL: Jenny Baker displays her diving form at Paddlers' meet last week.

Jenny Baker aims at Junior Olympics

Jenny Baker of Granite City is coming closer to her goal of competing in the Junior Olympics later this year in Orlando, Fla.

Baker, 14, has been a Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association diving champion for the past six years competing for Paddlers Swim Club. She advanced to the Zone Meet to be held at Clayton Shaw Park Water Sports Complex on July 29-31. Baker advanced by finishing 14th in the one-meter springboard competition and 11th in the three-meter competition at the Region IV Meet held at the IUUPI Natatorium in Indianapolis, Ind., July 14-16.

Baker will be a freshman at Granite City High School. She has been diving for seven years at Paddlers under coach Gayle McCormick. In addition, she has been practicing five days a week for more than six hours each day at Clayton Shaw Park. Her coaches there are Frank Armstrong, Tom Scotty and Kevin Medark.

Clayton provides Baker with more competition and additional diving equipment, including trampolines and mats. Her favorite dives include the inward dive off the one-meter board and the forward dive with 1 1/2 turns off the three-meter board.

Elks sponsoring softball tourney

The Granite City Elks Lodge is sponsoring its second annual softball tournament July 29-31. The tournament will be held at the 3rd Street Diamond in Madison.

son and will be limited to Class D teams. Teams interested in participating should contact Ed Bain at 452-1014 or John Jaros at 877-2832.

Many deaths at highways' repair sites

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois State Police and the Department of Transportation are advising motorists to use extra caution when driving through highway maintenance and construction sites throughout the state.

State officials say that annual construction site accident totals are up significantly since 1981.

Records show 7,617 crashes occurred at construction locations in 1986, compared with 4,310 in 1981.

There were 1,939 injury-producing accidents at these locations in 1986 and 1,158 in 1981.

Six persons have died in vehicle accidents at Illinois highway construction sites so far this year. On May 16, one person died when two trucks collided at a work site on U.S. 51 five miles south of Bloomington.

Three persons died June 15 in a crash involving a semi-tractor trailer and construction equipment. The driver of the truck, his passenger and a construction worker were killed in the accident on I-57 near Effingham.

The driver of a semi-tractor trailer was killed June 22 in a construction site accident on U.S. 51 three miles south of Bloomington. The sixth fatality occurred July 5 when one person was killed in a single-car crash near Mount Vernon.

Officials cited the increase in highway maintenance being performed in Illinois due to the state's aging interstate highway system. State Police say repair work zones can be extremely hazardous to motorists and construction workers.

In an attempt to save lives and reduce crashes, troopers have been directed to issue tickets to motorists who speed through construction zones, follow too closely, fail to yield the right-of-way to construction equipment, and fail to obey traffic flaggers.
